EPGP STUDENTS SPEAK

Saravanan Logu

The network you build during the year is the greatest value addition from a management programme. A business school like IIM, Indore has a great network of faculty, students and industry veterans across the sphere. With frequent talks from Industry leaders conducted at campus, we get a chance to meet them and learn from their experiences. Moreover the peers I am studying with are of immense potential, and in all likelihood will be industry leaders in the years to come.

Shikhar Mohan

One year. That says it all for me. After some years of work, it's easy to get comfortable and limit yourself by self-drawn boundaries. The one year MBA gives professionals like me a chance to dare and create oneself anew, without the opportunity cost associated with a two year MBA. It's one year to redefine yourself, expand your horizon and open doors to myriad new roles and careers. And IIM Indore was specially attractive - here was a one year programme with all the rigor of a two year MBA, backed by a faculty that's been known to create some of the brightest minds in management.

I recommend the One Year MBA at IIM Indore to everyone – its one year that will change your life.

Maj (Dr) Pankaj Kumar

While pursuing medicine in rich academic rigor of PGI Rohtak, I realized that I wanted to do something more challenging, which would broaden my horizons. After my MBBS, I opted for a career in the Indian Army. The contentment and self-satisfaction which 5-years of Army service gave me was unparalleled to all the achievements in my life. After rich and diverse clinical and management experience of 8 years in Indian Army and corporate sectors, I felt the need for formal education in management. With the right set of core-courses and a major area of concentration like Finance, strategy and international business, which enable executives to take on bigger and more challenging roles, the EPGP program is rightly equipped with action-learning projects, industry interface and international immersion module.

Vivek Edlabadkar

My education and work experience in the developed economy of United States helped me realize why a developing country like India will be in the spotlight for a foreseeable future. So, to be part of India's growth story and to help re-launch my career in India, I chose IIM Indore's one year, full time program over other international and Indian schools due to well recognized IIM brand and small class size.
