Course Description

This course introduces basic concepts and theories of 'Political Science' to students. Unlike what many perceive, the discipline of 'political science' does not deal with the various political developments as they take place in our day- to- day lives. On the contrary, Political science believes in systematic study of the world we live in from a political perspective. This includes not only an understanding of the evolution of the modern state system and sovereignty but also the key elements of the two distinct schools of thought in Political Science, namely, liberalism and Marxism. The course would also deal with concepts, which the world has been grappling with for centuries but yet to find the right answers.
